Ardèche Adventure Holiday

I'm proposing to run the following trip.

The Ardèche is often referred to as the 'Grand Canyon' of Europe, and is well known not only for its spectacular scenery, but also for its excellent and varied outdoor pursuits. The River itself winds its way through steep canyon walls, 26km of which is cut off from the gorge road high above, making this historically a popular region for canoeing, climbing, cycling, and walking. Rather than try & reproduce all the info, take a look at their brochure.

If you can't view it on-line I'll print you one off, just ask!

If you have been on one of the school's PGL weekends, it's very much along the same lines, but with the cultural element & the outstanding Ardèche gorge, which is a playground for families, nothing extreme.
